TWO CENTS

BOYS HELD FOR DOING DAMAGE TO PUBLIC SCHOOL PROPERTY

Fallowfield Twp. Directors
Make Charges Against Charleroi Youths

SHANNON SCHOOL ENTERED

Determined to break up a species of outlawry which has caused Fallowfield township a great deal of expense in the past, the members of the school board of that district a few days ago made information before Justice R. J. Whitehead against a number of boys who live in the vicinity of Twelfth street, Charleroi, charging them with malicious mischief.

The Shannon school, back of Lock Four, seems to be the special target of these boys who in the past have caused the board annoyance and expense in taking care of the damage they have done. Culprits have been arrested and taken before Justices, where they have been fined, but this method appears to have no terrors for those responsible for the destruction of public property.

On Tuesday, the 7th inst., a number of boys were seen in the Shannon school, by residents of the township, and chase was given the intruders. All escaped but one boy, who made a confession as to what boys were with him. These boys ranging in age from 7 to 14 years, were brought before Justice Whitehead for a hearing, all members of the Fallowfield school board being present. The prosecutors said they were tired of the continued depredations of the school property and wanted the Justice to take such action as would be a warning to other boys who might be inclined to invade this or any other school building in the township for the purpose of committing depredations.

It was brought out at the hearing before Justice Whitehead that the boys had broken into the school building, had broken windows, had taken books from the desks and thrown them around the room and splattered the walls with ink.

They had also taken books from the school, some of which were in their possession when discovered in the school building, but most of which were recovered.

SCARLET FEVER IS REPORTED IN DONORA

A strict quarantine has been placed in effect at Donora where numerous cases of scarlet fever have been discovered recently. The disease is not confined to one section of the town, but has cropped out both in the residential and business section and the health authorities are afraid it will spread unless proper precautionary methods are employed. One death was reported last week from the disease.

ANOTHER DONATION TO PLAYGROUNDS

At a special meeting of the school board held at the high school building Tuesday evening, an appropriation of $400.00 was made to the Playgrounds Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, to be used in fitting up playgrounds in the borough. No restrictions were placed on the appropriation by the school board, the desire being that the money be used to the best advantage at locations to be selected by the committee. The vote on the proposition was unanimous.

DROWNED WHILE ATTEMPTING TO SWIM

Lewis Javajanovr, 18 years old, whose home was at 202 Aliquippa street, Monessen, was drowned in the Monongahela river, a short distance below the hoop mill at 5 o'clock Tuesday evening. The unfortunate young man went to the river where a number of boys were in swimming; he also stripped himself and waded out into the stream. He got beyond his depth and being unable to swim, was drowned. The boys who were in swimming at that point were much smaller than the unfortunate young man, and evidently were afraid to attempt his rescue. The body was recovered about one hour later.

Women Are Advocates Of A Cleaner Town

The second meeting of the Women's Council was held Monday evening, June 13th with the president, Mrs. W. B. Pfelehardt in charge. Sixteen women representing twelve women's organizations were present. The committee of which Mrs. E. R. Allen is chairman made a careful and detailed report on the Waste paper receptacles.

Various suggestions were made as to other things which the Women might do for the town in which they live and where they rear their children. It was suggested by Mrs. Heupel that a committee go before council for aid and ask them to be more liberal with the use of the sprinkler and sweeper. Mrs. Stahlman suggested that individuals keep their own property clean and free from waste paper, garbage and other unsightly things and that wide publicity be given to the fact that the community holds each individual responsible for the way he keeps his own property, and that the way one's property is kept is somewhat of an index to one's character. Miss Minnie Richardson made a motion that a committee meet with the street committee of council and urge that they use the sprinkler and sweeper more diligently. This motion was unanimously carried. The Board of Health will be asked to enforce the law against burning papers and refuse on the part of individuals on their own property. Mrs. Wright suggested that the women take steps immediately for installing a public fountain.

GRAND JURY MAKING AN INVESTIGATION

For the first time in the history of Fayette county a grand jury met in special session Monday morning to deal with, at the March term of the court, the recent whiskey scandal. The grand jury is investigating the case of the late Unioctown and the whole of Fayette county. At that time 75 persons were up for trial after being indicted for complicity in unlawful handling of whiskey in Unioctown and other parts of the county.

The investigation is being made into alleged embezzlement and bribery charges in which a number of persons figure. Three persons have already entered pleas of guilt to charges of embezzlement and bribery and two others are said to be ready to enter similar pleas some time this week.

A dozen or more witnesses appeared before the grand jury in secret session Monday morning and were questioned at length regarding knowledge they had of the alleged attempts to influence jurors in deciding the fate of several of the defendants.

The testimony and statements of the witnesses summoned for today are expected to throw some light on the liquor scandal. The Committee of One Hundred, which was instrumental in bringing the charges against the 75 persons originally indicted in the case, has been active since the March term of court, and is said to be behind the further investigation.

made a motion that a committee meet with the street committee of council and urge that they use the sprinkler and sweeper more diligently. This motion was unanimously carried. The Board of Health will be asked to enforce the law against burning papers and refuse on the part of individuals on their own property. Mrs. Wright suggested that the women take steps immediately for installing a public fountain.

It was decided to hold a Japanese Garden Party Thursday, June 23rd, on the corner of Fifth and Lincoln on the lawn of the old McKean property. This promised to be a big affair. The following committees were appointed: Tickets—Mrs. Rosenblum; music—Mrs. Heupel and Miss Richardson; Decorations—Mrs. Heupel, Mrs. Berryman and Mrs. Bosson; Refreshments—Cakes, Mrs. Stahlman, candy, Miss Mattie Kelley, Mrs. Sharp, Mrs. Edna Weight, lemonade, Mrs. Allen.

The next meeting of the Women's council will be held on Monday, June 20th.

BIG HAUL OF BEER BY STATE TROOPERS

A "hooze" caravan, consisting of 23 barrels of beer, which was enroute from the Star Brewing company at Greensburg to Lonaconing, Maryland, was intercepted near Unioctown early Saturday morning last by members of the State Constabulary. On each barrel was a label stating that the contents contained not more than one-half of one per cent alcohol.

The drivers of the caravan, Alex Chambers and E. M. Menvier, both of Monessen, as well as E. N. Gibson, of Charleroi, who was in charge were held while an investigation was being made.

It is said the caravan left Greensburg shortly before noon Friday, arriving at Monessen about one o'clock where it remained until 11:30 o'clock Friday night.

Counsel for the Committee of One Hundred is conducting the investigation. According to a recent decision of the Supreme Court to the effect that the prohibitory and penal provisions of the Brooks law was in full effect, the quantity of alcohol contained in the beverage is not considered, and although it contained one-half of one per cent alcohol, as the label indicated, the transportation would be in violation of the liquor laws.

YOUNG COMMITTED TO JAIL ON A CHARGE OF ASSAULT

MAYOR WILL PUT BAN ON FIREWORKS

Mayor Allen, of Monongahela, will place a ban on the indiscriminate use of fireworks in that town. Already some over-enthusiastic citizens have been called to account, and notice was given that strict attention will be given by the city authorities to the use of all explosives. This does not mean that use of fireworks on July 4th will be prohibited, but all such demonstrations must be conducted in a manner as to guard public safety.

WOMEN URGED TO GET INTO PRIMARIES

"The time draws near when the women of Washington county will again have the opportunity of casting ballots," said Mrs. R. M. Taylor, secretary of the Women's Republican committee of Washington county. "The selection of candidates on September 20 for county, township and borough offices as well as their election in November, should be given thorough consideration. Since the repeal of the non-partisan statutes of Pennsylvania and elsewhere there is almost certain to follow a larger interest in party affairs. It is necessary for women, when registering, to state their affiliation with some political party. Nonpartisanship is no party and ballots cannot be cast to that effect at the primaries. Miss Alice Robertson, the only woman representative in Congress, declared in a speech at Philadelphia that she was bitterly opposed to the League of Women Voters, because it closes women's eyes to the good they might do individually. Miss Robertson in her suggestion about nonpartisan politics simply gave expression to the opinion of all who have had any real experience in political activities. Nonpartisanship has too often been the cloak of trickery and the raiding of one party by another.

"The Republican women of Washington county," continued Mrs. Taylor, "should take special interest in the selection of candidates at the primaries in September, as these nominees will have charge of the affairs of the county, townships and boroughs when elected in November. Women can be of great service in helping to select the applicants who are best qualified to perform the duties that shall be required of them for their government. Washington county is foremost in the state in its attitude toward women, having recognized their rights in appointing Mrs. Lillian M. Lane as a member of the poor board, Mrs. Lillian Brown as Burgess of Washington, and other women to minor positions in the townships. Mrs. John N. O'Neil, chairman of the Woman's Republican Committee, recently suggested that all women who have not been registered should avail themselves of the last opportunity on the 19th and 20th of July, when the

Said to be Resident of Mercer County which may be Asked to Bear Expense

PRISONER TRIED TO ESCAPE

Roy Young, colored, arrested by local officers Tuesday morning for disturbing the peace and committed to the lockup, where in a religious frenzy he did considerable damage to the cell room, on a commitment issued by Justice R. J. Whitehead was this morning taken to the county jail at Washington. A charge of assault was made against Young, and Chief Albright, accompanied by Officer Murphy, took the prisoner over. Just what disposition the county authorities will make of the prisoner is another question. It is said Young is a resident of Mercer county, and it is likely that county will be asked to look after him.

A hearing to determine the sanity of Young was held in the Burgess' office at the borough building Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Dr. Hill, with Justices Whitehead and Nutt were present, and Young was questioned. He was able to give sane answers to a number of questions asked him, but invariably he would turn to the religious phase and apparently become more and more excited as he continued his talk.

After the hearing, and while talking quietly to his mother, who with his stepfather was present, Young made a sudden dash for liberty. He ran out the door of the office into the corridor of the building, and started for the rear window. Just as he was about to make his exit he was captured by Officer Thomas and Burgess Woodward. The officers then deemed it best to put Young back in the dungeon, which they did at once, where he remained all night, apparently with but little sleep. This morning the officers determined to take him to Washington to allow the authorities to dispose of the case.

THOMPSON'S TUMBLE.

From 1915, when he was first elected mayor, until within a few days William H. Thompson was the undisputed boss of Chicago. His own party was long ago expected to turn against him in great part on account of his pro-German attitude during the war. That he held his own in spite of such a record is doubtless attributable to Chicago's great foreign born vote. Last fall he was even able to extend his sway over the Illinois government and legislature, thereafter needing only the courts to insure his complete mastery. His attempt to pack the courts with his creatures has at last brought his downfall. Twenty judges of the circuit court and one judge of the superior court were to be chosen. The machine dominated by Thompson named a ticket which was rejected by the Lawyers Association. Revolting Republican and Democratic leaders then met and nominated a list including ten Republicans and seven Democrats now on the bench. These candidates, all approved by the bar, were formally nominated by the coalition ticket.

Then the aroused people gave this (coalition) ticket surprising majorities, in spite of the machine's assurance and its dropical campaign fund. The strongest Republican wards went Democratic, the confident mayor losing his own precinct. The women voters were especially active in the campaign of all the better elements to keep the courts untainted and rebuke bossism. Thompson was stunned, realizing too late that he had gone too far. The result shows that even a heedless public can be aroused at last and that civic conscience, once awakened, can throw down the biggest boss and smash the strongest machine.

THE BASIS OF OPTIMISM.

Ever-cheerful Charles Schwab is happy as Percy Bysshe Shelley's lark because steel production is suffering its worst depression in forty years, says an exchange. The output has decreased from 40,000,000 tons (normal) to 10,000,000 tons. "The industrial depression," said the magnate, "is the best thing that ever happened in the United States."

Of course Mr. Schwab is not happy on account of the business depression. He enjoys making money as well as the rest of us. He is gratified, however, that present conditions forecast a reorganization of costs in the steel industry which will give that industry a chance to meet the stiff competition which is coming from Europe. American costs must react to the world situation and they are bound to react under the depression of a slump. When the steel trade booms it will boom under a normal stimulus which will be able to afford its own nourishment in a growth contest with foreign steel.

Mr. Schwab is willing to take his temporary losses in order to build a new and prosperous business structure. Labor will be wise if it adopts the viewpoint of the steel man and makes ready cheerfully for the new era of the world industrial competition, which is just around the corner. Only by accepting the facts can American capital and American labor build a solid foundation for prosperity.

The amorous swain of today had better beware of perfumed lips. Leo E. Forst, retiring head of the United States Pure Food and Drug Laboratory, Cincinnati, says orders from Washington that a form of strychnine be put into all perfumes, to make them unfit for beverage purposes, have made kissing dangerous. So Cupid must share in the punishment of Bacchus.

London Punch remarks that the United States may now be building warships speedy enough to cross the Atlantic in three days, but the best we had in 1914 took three years to make the same voyage. This joke no doubt owes its paternity to the widely circulated reply to the American soldier who in 1917 complained that the beer sold him in Paris was stale—"Why shouldn't it be? It has been waiting for you three years!"

When a European ruler plays golf his caddy can be safely trusted to overpraise his game, but when 14-year-old Norris Wesler, who acted as caddy for President Harding in Pennsylvania the other day, was interviewed he hesitated, colored and said: "I've seen better."

For Antiquarians to Solve.

In discussing the origin of names from occupations an interesting point crops up. A man might have been a cooper and his son a weaver, who was the family known as coopers and not weavers? Just at what point did the appellation crystallize into a name? Careful study has failed to clear up this point.

No Room for the Incompetent.

Much of the work done in this world has to be undone. Incompetency is the greatest drawback to progress. Incompetents are the most costly members of society, and always will be. That's why there is always a premium on brains and skill, which combine to produce efficiency.—Exchange.

English Title of Nobility.

The rank of earl was introduced into England at the time of the Conquest and succeeded the Saxon earldom. It continued the highest rank in England until Edward III created dukes in 1337 and Richard II created marquesses in 1385 both being superior to earls.

Mistake Made by Many.

Too many people take themselves too seriously, and can't understand why their estimates of themselves are not accepted by others. Consequently they "make it out" on others when they might do much better by taking some things out of themselves. There's too much personal "milkation."

Notice!

Hat pins are used by the American customs authorities to prod parcels for hidden jewelry. We hasten to inform our fair fellow subway travelers that we never hide jewels behind our eyeballs.—London Opinion.

Wedding Ring Finger.

Whatever the fashion may be about wedding rings, the Episcopal Book of Common Prayer says: "The priest, taking the ring, shall deliver it to the man to put on the fourth finger of the woman's left hand."

We All Know That.

"That old motto 'Business before pleasure,'" said Jud Tunkins, "means nothing more than in this world you can't enjoy yourself unless you've got the price."

Less Expectancy of Life.

It has been authoritatively stated that the expectancy of life for men and women who have passed 40 has actually decreased and is steadily decreasing.

Diction.

Be noble both in the affluence and the economy of your diction; spare no wealth that you can put in, and tolerate no superfluous that can be struck out.—Thomas Wentworth Higginson.

FORTY-THREE MILLION LIVES

Lost to World Through the Great War, According to Figures Given by Statistician.

A study of the different statistics of the actual and potential loss of life due to the recent war reveals the fact that over forty-three million lives have been lost to the world either directly from the war or from causes induced by it. Howard P. Strong, M. D., writes in the North American Review. These losses are made up of, first, approximately 13,000,000 deaths which occurred in the military service; secondly, a stupendous mortality above that which occurred in normal times in the civilian populations amounting to approximately 10,000,000, due to epidemic and other diseases, privation, hardship, physical exhaustion, and similar causes; and thirdly, a potential loss of 20,000,000 lives due to the decreased birth frequency below that which occurred under normal conditions before the war. The adult male population in many European countries has been reduced by from 15 to 20 per cent. The figures of Alonzo Taylor show us that there are between 50,000,000 and 60,000,000 people in Europe who have lost their prewar occupations owing to the fact that the markets for their products no longer exist, having been changed or taken away from them by other countries. Many of these people have or soon will become refugees in Europe, among which class of people not only poverty and hardship, but also disease always reigns, resulting in a high increase in death rate and decrease in birth rate.

LOOK ON WALKING AS JOKE

People Seem to Regard Primitive Method of Locomotion as Altogether Out of Date.

Charles Hanson Torne writes in the Century: When I refer to the difficulty of walking I do not refer to the intricacies of gait, to flat feet, or to arthralgias. Not at all. I mean that it is hard indeed in these rushing times to go upon, even on the most latest by-roads, without being considered eccentric. People stare at you as though you were some kind of freak or criminal. They cast suspicious glances your way, never dreaming that perhaps you prefer your own mode of means of pleasant locomotion.

I asked a certain friend if he would not accompany me. My friend turned to me and instantly said: "My car is out of order." "But I do not mean to go in a car," I quickly answered. "Why?" he replied, looking at me as though I had gone quite mad. "How else would we go?" "On foot," I boldly made answer. It is telling that this confirmed New Yorker would never think the same of me again. And it was so. I shall not forget, in a hundred years, his final disgusted glance. If anything further was needed to crush me utterly, I do not know what it could be.

Adult Illiteracy in Mexico.

Instruction for illiterates in the territories of the republic of Mexico is provided by a law promulgated recently. The law authorizes the employment of persons in every locality who will undertake the instruction of one or more illiterates. Children under fifteen years of age who live in districts provided with schools are not included in the application of the law. The American consul at Mexico, Mexico, who reports the promulgation of the law, states that it will not only tend to uplift the peon classes, but it will also create a better feeling on our border. Under the American immigration law illiterates are not allowed to enter the United States, although their more fortunate fellow countrymen may cross and recross the border at will.

Antoine Dumas, a farmer living near Yssingeaux, who for three years had been without the power of speech, was cured in an unusual manner without the cost of a cent. Dumas served in the French artillery during the war. During one of the heavy bombardments his voice ceased to function, and although scores of army doctors tried to aid him, no one had ever been able to restore his power of speech. While working in the barn of his farm he slipped and fell to the ground. Farm hands who ran to his aid discovered that while his only injury was a small bump at the back of the head, Dumas was able to speak as loudly and colorfully as the best of the farmers.

Evelyn Pass.

In the great government reserve on the eastern side of Yellowstone pass in the Rocky mountains, known as Jasper park, Alberta, is a pass leading from Athabasca falls on the Athabasca river, to Maline lake. The geographic board of Canada has recently named the pass Evelyn, after Evelyn, Duchess of Devonshire, wife of his excellency the governor general, and daughter of the marquis of Lansdowne, who was governor general of Canada from 1883 to 1888. The duchess of Devonshire visited the pass, now named after her, during last summer.—Montreal Family Herald.

MAKE CRUSADE ON UNLICENSED DOGS

J. E. Irwin and Constable Harry Baer were out on a crusade against unlicensed dogs in Pricedale and North Belle Vernon last week, and at the home of one man eight dogs were killed, but four escaped the executioners. The dogs had not been licensed and they were all mere curs, and of no particular use.

The home at which the dogs were killed was occupied by a man and his wife and they fought hard to save their pets. The crusade carried the constable and his deputy all over that section of the county, and a large number of dogs were killed.

A little foreign child was set upon by dogs in Pricedale last Wednesday afternoon and so badly injured that it is said she will not recover. The child was playing with others when it was set upon by one dog, and others followed suit.

BOYS HELD FOR DOING DAMAGE

The boys who were before the Justice Tuesday evening were Mike Shepaski, Frank Hozuea, Russell Gordon, Sam Scotch and Joe Cuelien, all from the vicinity of Twelfth street, all of whom were bound over to the juvenile court. These boys, as well as two others who were in the party at the time the school house was entered, will report at the Justice's office Thursday evening. At which time a representative of the juvenile court is expected to be present to take charge of them. The disposition of their cases will then be up to the courts of the county.

Way Ball "Bounces."

A ball bounces because it possesses a quality known as elasticity. When a ball is thrown against the floor the ball becomes flat where it strikes the floor, because of its elasticity the ball immediately returns to its natural shape and in doing so forces itself back into the air—and that's the "bounce." A baseball flies away from the bat for the same reason.

Health in White Cedar.

Water pills and other vessels made of southern white cedar were long held to have a wholesome effect on the contents because of supposed medicinal properties of the wood says the American Forestry Magazine. It was even believed that water issuing from a white cedar spout had its healthfulness increased.

Safeguarding the Miner.

To protect the miner against his ancient enemy inflammable gas a mining engineer has improved the standard type of miner's lamp. He has added a device which causes the lamp to emit a loud singing note as soon as the atmosphere becomes charged with inflammable gas.

Dreaming of Putty.

To dream of putty is a sign of poverty: putting up holes foretells losses—the larger the hole the more extensive the loss. If you are putting glass into a window with putty it foretells that you will soon move into a meaner place than you now occupy.

Derived Name From Occupation.

Hunting with a falcon was the chief sport of medieval England, and those who trained the birds or handled them were known as falconers, from which is derived our modern Faulkner with its variations.

Which is the Highest Mountain?

It is generally thought Mount Everest with its 29,400 feet, is the world's highest peak, but some authorities assert that Teram Kangri, Kara Koram, Cashmere, has an altitude of nearly 30,000 feet.

GEORGE EDEL'S HOME ENTERED BY THIEVES

The home of George J. Edel, Brownsville, was entered by thieves on Sunday evening last, and a few articles taken, chief of which was a quart bottle about three-quarters full of whiskey.

Little Miss Kathryn Elder of 704 Washington avenue, left Saturday last with her grandmother, Mrs. M. Rabson of Pittsburgh, for a visit with relatives in Washington, D. C., Baltimore and New York City. She will return home in time to take up her studies at the opening of school in September.

THE INDIANS KNEW

A famous physician stated that more women might find relief from suffering through taking a medicine like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than through undergoing surgical operations, if they would only take it in time. At the first sign of female weakness, as indicated by backache, dullness, bearing down pains and nervous exhaustion, take this famous remedy of roots and herbs and avoid the serious consequences of delay.

The Indians and early settlers knew and benefited by Nature's Allies, the roots and herb of the field. Because Lydia E. Pinkham knew their medicinal value, thousands of women all over the world have been saved from operations, but only such as have taken it in time.

CYCLISTS SAVE A WOMAN FROM DROWNING

On Memorial Day, while riding on their bicycles on the river road above Roscoe, George F. Boehm and E. T. Skeba unexpectedly came upon a strenuous family quarrel, in which the man in the case had badly beaten the woman, and both being under the influence of liquor there seemed to be no way of stopping the fight. At the time the two cyclists arrived the woman was in the river, in water up to her neck, and loudly proclaiming her intention of drowning herself. Her husband was quietly standing on the bank, calmly watching her. Boehm could not stand to see the tragedy take place before his eyes, and plunged into the river after the woman, and by force dragged her to shore. She ran into the woods near the Eclipse mine and the children wanted the two men to go after her and save her, as they said she was going to take some "chemical." The rescuers decided they had interfered enough and refused to pursue her.

At The Corle

"Coincidence" is the title of the film play to be seen at the Coyle theatre this evening. It is the very amusing story of Billy Jenks, a young man from the country who comes to New York and obtains employment in a Fifth avenue store. Incidents of a startling nature follow in his path to fame and success, and the entire feature is filled with plenty of comedy which makes it interesting and entertaining.

BELLE VERNON ROAD TO BE IMPROVED

Orders have been received from the State Highway Department for extensive improvements of the West Newton-Belle Vernon highway and Road Foreman J. J. Hout has already gotten the work under way. In addition to improving this important artery of travel, which in many places had become unsafe there will be a number of changes. Notable among these will be the elimination of the "S" curve near the Gardner farm and the widening of the road at the Nash farm. At the "S" curve a new concrete bridge will be built, and the straightening of the road will require 1,400 feet of new highway.

If conditions are favorable it is anticipated that the attendance will be away beyond the highest calculations of the management.

COAL SHIPMENTS WILL START THURSDAY

The shipment of coal from Ellsworth mine No. 1 to Buffalo, for the Lackawanna steel company, will begin Thursday. It is said the steel company has booked sufficient orders to keep the plant in operation for several months. As a result of the resumption at this mine business in and around Ellsworth has taken a new lease, and with the expected resumption of other collieries conditions promise to be much improved during the remainder of the summer.

TO BUILD BRANCH LINE IN WASHINGTON COUNTY

Construction of a branch road to reach many millions tons of coal in Washington county has been authorized by the interstate commerce commission in approving the application of the Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railroad, asking permission to build this road. The branch will extend from the main line of the company at Virginia station, W. Va., to coal properties in Washington county, about three miles distant. The estimated cost of the branch is $381,752. The owner of the coal land, the commission stated, has agreed to provide the right of way and give the company $100,000 when the road is ready for operation.

CHILD FRACTURES SKULL BY FALL TO STREET

Mary Claire, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Feeney, met with a severe accident Monday evening at the home of the parents on McKean avenue. The child was playing on the porch, on the second floor of the building, when it unfortunately fell to the street below, sustaining a fracture of the skull at the base of the brain. Dr. Viesler was called and gave immediate aid.

Mr. Merchant: Let the people of Charleroi and vicinity know what you have to sell, and the advantages of dealing with you. Then there will be no need of looking for buyers in other houses.

LAND OF CHANGES

Santo Domingo Has Undergone Many Vicissitudes.

Oldest Permanent Settlement on American Soil, It Has Failed to Fulfill Its Early Promise.

Santo Domingo is rich in historic interest, says Samuel Guy Luman in the course of an article in the Pan-American Magazine. It is the oldest of all of the permanent settlements on American soil. Here Columbus founded various colonies, and Santo Domingo city became his favorite of all the New world. It was here that he spent some of the happiest time of his life, and here that he was reduced to prison by his political enemies and from here he was sent in chains and disgrace to Spain. The old tower where he was imprisoned still remains and his bones lie in the great cathedral of Santo Domingo City.

In this oldest city of the New world one still sees the remains of the first church built in America. Its foundations were laid in 1502. Here is the house where Cortez kept the court records before he had ever heard of Mexico. From here Ponce de Leon set out in his search for the Fountain of Youth. Here lived Pizarro before he went to Panama and sailed down the west coast to conquer the Inca empire. Everywhere one turns he encounters old landmarks where the famous conquistadores had their first experiences in the New world. Padre de las Casas entered the priesthood here, and in his indignation because of the abuse of the Indians by the Spaniards began to import slaves from Africa to make lighter the work of the Indian laborers. Here was founded the first university of the New world, when in 1538 a royal charter was granted for the establishment of the University of St. Thomas.

Unfortunately this glorious history was not maintained. Fifty years after the first settlement the Indians had almost been exterminated by the cruelty of their masters and the finest of the conquistadores had moved on to conquer new and glorious worlds. For nearly three centuries Santo Domingo dropped out of the notice of the world. In the early part of the Nineteenth century, when the other Spanish colonies were declaring their independence and establishing republics, Santo Domingo endeavored to join this movement, but she was overpowered by the negro despot of Hayti, and was held under the dominance of the negro republic until 1844. Then followed twenty years of independent life, filled with revolution, after which the country again put itself under Spain for some five years. Again declaring itself as a republic, it entered an independent existence until 1910, when the government was taken over by the United States Navy.

Southern Cypress Has Many Colors.
Southern bald cypress is about the most variable in color of any of our native woods, and in different localities is known as red cypress, yellow cypress, white cypress and black cypress.

There is a rather prevalent belief that cypress with dark colored heartwood is the most durable, but the opinion of the United States forest products laboratory is that as far as durability is concerned the color of the wood makes very little difference.

In service records obtained by the laboratory, any difference in the length of service of red cypress and yellow cypress appears to be due entirely to a difference in the amount of sapwood in the timbers. Cypress trees with light-colored heartwood usually have more sapwood than those with dark colored heartwood, and sapwood is not resistant to decay.

The important thing, if durability is desired, appears to be to select the heartwood of cypress regardless of its shade.

The candidate, who among several, receives the highest number of votes, is said to have a plurality amounting to the difference between his vote and that of the candidate receiving the next highest number. If the vote of the candidate is greater than the sum of the votes cast for all other candidates for the same office he has a majority. A majority is more than half, while a plurality may be much less than half.

Diagnosis.

"I hear that Tawkins is going to give De Stuart a pretty fat fee."

"What for?"

"Because when the doc was called to attend Mrs. Tawkins for a slight nervous trouble he told her she had an acute attack of inflammatory verberosity. He then recommended absolute quiet as the only means of averting cacothous loquendi. She's scared dumb."

"WENT IN" WITHOUT ARMOR

Doughboy Resented Imputation Which Museum Exhibit Seemed to Convey to the World.

A veteran of the A. E. F., wandering among the armor exhibits at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, found himself suddenly face to face with a "tin hat"—approved A. E. F. model—ceremoniously installed in a glass case of its own near the haystack-shaped helmets of the early Tartar tribes and the hairberd and bullhorns of the European Middle ages. It made him feel historic and important—for a short moment—until his eye took in the rest of the exhibit below the tin hat.

There was a complete suit of armor made out of the same metal as the tin hat, and it comprised a neckpiece, a breastplate, a stomach shield and a pair of thigh guards, all overlapping, and a string of overlapping steel plates down each arm—all strapped to a dummy doughboy dressed in O. D. and wearing the tin hat. It was labeled "American Armor."

"It's all wrong," said the veteran to an attendant. "There wasn't anything like that over there."

"But," said the attendant, "the sign here says at the bottom 'Experimental Armor,' pointing to a small card inside the case. 'I suppose that means to say it wasn't used in practice.'"

"Well, it doesn't say it clearly enough for me," said the veteran.

He went off vowing indignantly that he would lodge a protest with the museum authorities—or with the American Legion—or with somebody.—New York Sun.

HELPS SOUTH SEA NATIVES

School Founded by English Woman Has Been of Benefit in Inculcating Self Reliance.

North of Fiji, in one of the islands of the Ellice group of the South seas, education of a practical nature has been going on, and a deserted coral island has been the scene of a school for girls where not only the ordinary curriculum of European schools has been in force but house-building, boating and other necessary arts of a Robinson Crusoe life. When the school was started there was not another living person on the island of Papaelise, which is an enchanting island, three-quarters of a mile long and about a hundred yards in width, its shores surrounded by coral reefs and the bluest of blue seas.

The school was started by an Englishwoman, Miss Jolliffe, in 1912, and she has been the head in this island of learning in the South seas till the present time, when she felt it was time to take a holiday. Devoted to her girls as they are to her, she tells of their self-reliance and capability. They built their own houses and dormitories with the help of a few native men, whose services were shortly dispensed with, and only one old man retained to help in the coco plantations. There are about 2,000 coconut trees on the island and the girls look after them.

Declared Nature Exempt.

There is another story told by Professor Roerich which results in the hearer asking for assurance of its truth, which is given. It seems that certain enthusiastic revolutionists in authority in Moscow decided that a highly decorative and significant effect could be produced by painting the grass and the trees about the government buildings in Moscow a bright red. Orders were given and the government painters set themselves industriously to work giving an appearance to the official vegetation which we commonly attribute to growth on the planet Mars. Whereupon the startled workmen and soldiers of the city marched through the streets and made solemn protest against painting the trees and grass of the city red. Their wishes in the matter were respected and nature was relieved of the necessity of subscribing to the soviet code.—Christian Science Monitor.

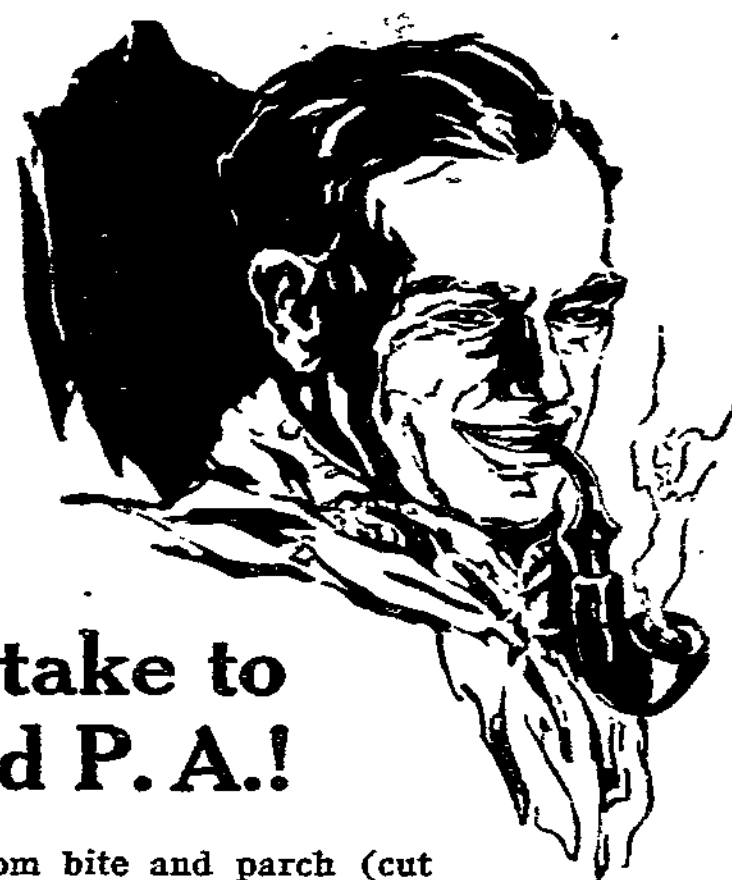

Eight-year-old Ruth was having her first party. Before the guests came mother gave her a long talk on the duties of a hostess, and told her to be sure that every one was served with all the refreshments. And Ruth promised.

But among the guests was one little miss who was very shy. She didn't play any of the games, she didn't converse, and when the ice cream was brought forward refused to take any. Then Ruth came over to her. "You must eat some," she insisted, offering her another dish of cream.

The little visitor shook her head. "I don't want any," she persisted. "But you must eat it," Ruth insisted. "You must eat it even if you have to throw it up afterward."

Use Care in Handling Powder.

Opening a wooden keg of black blasting powder with a wooden tool might appear to be the safest of methods, yet the United States bureau of mines calls attention to a number of serious accidents resulting from the practice. The habit in many places has been to drive a hardwood spike through the head of the keg, and in several instances the ignition of the powder has directly followed. The cause remains unexplained, though any one of a number of actions may be responsible. Because of the demonstrated danger, it is recommended that powder be extracted from its kegs only by way of the bunghole, even if more time is required.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Left Him Thinking.

After a sermon by an old colored preacher one of the brethren said to him: "Br'er Jenkins, how far off you reckon, hell is?" "How old is you, Br'er Thomas?" asked the preacher. "Well, suh, ef I don't miss my kalkulations I is sixty-odd." "Well," said the preacher, "when you wuz born inter dis worl, did you jes' sixty-fo' years off, an' all I got ter say is, ef you ain't in sight er it now, it ain't yo' fault."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Many Kinds of Honey.

There are more kinds of honey than you think. There is honey that is black and sour; honey that is red; honey that is poisonous; honey that is green and honey that is rose color. Many of us have eaten honey that is white, and most of us know honey that ranges in color from pale yellow to brown. Honey is of many flavors, depending on the kind of blossoms the bees work on.

When glasses or dishes stick together so tightly there is danger of cracking them, place cold water in the inner one and dip the outer in hot water. They'll come apart easily.
